LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

The headquarters of the order of Patriarchs Militant, I. O. O. F., have recently been transferred from Columbus, Olio, to our own capital, and Major-General Frost is in charge. He says that the change was made for the purpose of building up the order in this state. Ohio has seventy-six cantons and Illinois forty-four, and it is hoped to largely increase this number by the establishment of the headquarters in Springfield. The both the civil and military bodies of the Odd Fellows, has established headquarters in Chicago and, with a large force of clerks, is giving his entire time to the arrangements for the first triennial cantonment of the Patriarchs, which is to be held in Chicago August 3. For the competitions in drilling nearly $25,000 in cash prizes are offered and it is expected that the occasion will be one of great in-

Robberies. Marshal Mason had a batch of robberies reported to him yesterday, but as yet there have been no arrests. Thomas Fields, the candy man, had $120 taken from his pockets Sunday night at his home; R. L. Hockaday's residence, at Mt. Zion, was robbed of money and jewelry to the amount of $200; Charles D. Bevans, at 138 West William street, lost $6, and the V. H. Chronister grocery etere on North Broadway was robbed of a package of Star tobacco.

In taking Reid's German Cough and Kidney Cure it is simply necessary to be moderate. If you eat too much, eat less, but do not following scale: Captains, $60 per month; starve yourself, or "knock off entirely." If you drink too much, drink less, whether it be coffee, tea, or any other beverage. Then take the Cure according to directions and it will heal you of your trouble. This is especially true in summer It is at this season of Water street, from Wood to Decatur, at the year that persons take cold easily and lay the foundation of subsequent diseases. A sudden change in the weather, exposure to showers, change of clothing, sleeping in draughts gives them a slight cold. They neglect it, ready to be laid up with a cough, or they suffer from pleurisy, or they have pain in the back, or catarrh or bronchitis. All these come from a cold neglected. If at the beginning the sufferer will take Reid's German Cough and Kidney Cure according to directions he can and will avoid these troubles and escape any ill effects from the heats of the summer, for it is not only a safeguard against cold, but it builds up the system and enables it to resist disease. In the discussion of the Federal Election bill the Northern Democracy plead with the South not to exhabit its timfeeling in that debate. Why aid they thus plead with the South? It was because they did not want the burden which they have borne for thirty years on account of the conduct of the Southern Democracy to be made more grievous. But why should anything the South does become a burden to the Northern wing of the Democratic party? Is there anyone in the North who has that independence which refuses to be dictated by the South? We answer that since 1856 there has been a respectable class of people in the North who have refused to bow the knee to the Southern Basl. That class became organized and known as the Republican party. It refused to thing about water bills. Our Relations With Canada in Peace and War. SOME STARTLING STATEMENTS OF FACT

Trade Relations and the Inter-State Commerce Law-The Behring Sea and Fisheries Questions-Defenceless Condition of Our Borders, Etc.

WASHINGTON, July 22-Mr. Hosr. chairman of the Senate committee on relations with Canada, presented to the Senate yesterday the testimony which has been taken by the committee. This testimony was not acrompanied by a report. It is understood that the committee will make a report of its conciusions at a later period, after additional testimony shall have been taken at Detroit, Buffalo and some other points. The testimony already taken comprises some 1,300 pages. It consists of testimony of military men, railroad officials, rominent business men of the United States and Canada, men engaged in the fishing industry along the whole extent of the Northern boundary of the United States from California to Maine. The testimony covers all the points of vital interest as to the relations between the United States and the dependencies of Great Britain in North America. The first witness examined was General Nolson A. Miles, in command on the

I will state what is well known in regard to Canada. I believe that the railway system of British Columbia could be occupied by American troops in ton days; in other words, that the principal part of British Columbia could be occupied by American troops—not, hovever, through Victoria. That is on the island of Vancouver, occupled by British forces, a place where the British Government has expended millions in building dry docks and navy yards, and has made some surveys for fortifications. They have there at this time a fleet of war ships under the command of a British Admiral. I think It is fair to say, what every intelligent man must know, that during that ten days the British fleet could destroy every town and city on Paget Sound destroy our railroad system there and occupy our outlets for that northwestern country. They could also send ships up the Columbia river and destroy the city of Portland and that railway sys-There is not a gun or an earthwork on Puget Sound, nor a single artillery soldier. A great number of witnesses discuss in all its relations, the questions of subsidies to steamers from the Pacific coast to China, notably the lines which have been subsidized by Great Britain in connection with the Canadian Pacific railroad, and which constitute a continuous subsidized line from China to Liverpool over the Canadian Pacific.

The general policy and effect of the Canadian Pacific railroad upon the United States railroads is discussed by the friends and opponents of that system. One of the curious features of the testimony is a consideration of the possible transfer of a portion of the fisherles interest from the Atlantic to the North Pacific coast. The testimony gives the latest information as to the salmon industry on the Pacific coast, western Ftates. The testimony is an important contribution to many subjects connected with the tariff, and will be likely to be found of use in the tariff debate. The very important lumber question which is so much discussed, is fully considered in the testimony. Nearly every question connected with the tariff, as affected by the relations between the United States and Canada, is trouted on both sides The managers of the United States trans-continental railroad system so forth at length their complaint at the competition of the Canadian road, which is made possible by the fact that these roads are not subtect to the operations of the Inter-State remedies for the evils of which the United States roads complain, are suginterests. Many of them suggest that the long and short haul and the pooling THE NEWS OF THE DAY sections of the Inter-State Commerce aw should be repealed. The advocates and the opponents of reciprocity state their cases at length. Some very curious information is given as to the nature of the Alaska seal fisheries. Most of the fishermen engaged in the food fishing on the North Atlantic coast insist that the seals are very destructive of food fish, and that it will be a benefit to the country when they shall all disappear. There is abundant evidence to show that seals are destroyed in the most wanton manner by shooting.

irrespective of the season which ought to be regarded as crose, and even when the seals are in the breeding season. The testimony contains full information as to the wool-growing interests and the woolen manufacturing industry on the Pacific coast and along the Northwestern border. The relation of the fishery question on the Atlantic and Pacific coast are set forth. One of the fishermen of the Northwestern coast said it requires over four million pounds of food fish per day to supply the seals, and that it may become necessary on that coast to get rid of the seals in order to preserve the food fish for mankind. Some of the fishermen predict that, with the existing methods of hunting the seals, there will not be fisheries at the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, which are becoming such a sensational feature of Canadian news just now. The rights of American fishermen under the several treaties with Great Britain are considered.

The subject of annexation, of which so much has been said, is incidentally nosses, and the advantages and disadvantages which it is assumed would result from a union of the two countries are explained by individuals, Canadians as well as Americans. The committee itself makes no statement upon this | subject, nor does it communicate any conclusion of any kind in connection with the testimony. The conclusions, as has already been stated, are re-Forved for a subsequent period after additional testimony shall have been

An appendix to the testimony contains a great deal of information about the Dominion of Canada from official Canadian and other sources, which is hardly to be found in any other compilation. In one portion of the appenlix the present exciting rare question in Canada between the French and English-speaking portions of the Dominon, is fully explained. Full information as to the trade and commerce and the political and physical material relations of the Dominian of Canada are contained in the appendix and throughout the testimony.

The Reported Battle Between the Forces of Guatemala and San Salvador. NEW YORK, July 22.-Mr. Baise, Con rul General for both Guatemala and Honduras in this city, stated to a United Press reporter yesterday that he had heard nothing of a battle beween the forces of Guatemala and San Salvador. He placed no credence in the dispatches received here. His last advices were about four days old, and at that time there was no mention of a battle being imminent. His advices merely stated that the Guatemalan Government had sent a number of troops to the frontier as a corps of observation. General Ezeta was said to be carrying things with a high hand in San Salvador, and the Guatemalan forces were sent forward to protect their own territory. Mr. Baiso said it was nonsense to assert that San Salva dor had nine thousand men in the field. He declared that they could not have more than two or three thousand in the battle, if one actually occurred. On the other hand, he sald, Guatemala could muster a force of forty thousand Mr. Baise said that the only tele graphic communication between Guatemaia and this country is by way of the cable from San Salvador to Mexico, and that all dispatches run the risk of being tampered with. He said that San Salvador was under martial law with a consorship of the press that enabled the people in power to send out any information they pleased. He added that the country was in a state of anarchy, and that the party in power has not been recognized by Guatemala, Honduras, Mexico or the United States. He concluded by asserting that there was no truth in the rumor that either of the countries which he represents has any designs upon San Salvador other than the establishment of peace.

F. A. Falconer Held for Forgery and Wool Sack Thievery.

The Chicago papers tell us that one of Decatur's former citizens, once an active and influential member of The Socks, is occupying a dungeon cell in Chicago. His name is Frank A. Falconer. It appears that Falconer went to as many as seven different wool-buying firms and got wool sacks valued at $330, under the pretense that he was going to buy wool for them. Instead of doing this they say he took the sacks and disposed of them to his own profit. Falconer says he has distributed the sacks about the country and that in due time he will fetch them in loaded with wool. The news that Falconer has been restrained of his liberty has awakened much indignation among the local Socks, who continue to have faith in Frank's ability to pull out and take care of himself. Socumbendel! Empty Sacks! Poor Frank. LOOKS DARKER, from Kinsey & Co., commission merchants, Chicago, stating that Falconer is in jail in default of $4,000 bail for obtaining the wool sacks on false pretense, and further that there is a charge of forgery standing against him. Falconer had gone to Kinsey & Co., and representing that he was F. A. Rawlins, said that the Decatur bank had advanced him $1500 on 1300 pounds of wool; but it didn't take the Chicago firm long to discover the faisity of the representation. It is learned that while Falconer made Decatur his home, he often had wool sacks scattered all over the country. On one occasion he was threatened with arrest unless he produced the sacks, and he got about 50 together to escape punishment; but after he did that, it is stated that Falconer caused the sacks to disappear suddenly. They could never be found.

The Ubicago Inter-Ocean prints the following as to the disposition of the charges against Falconer:

For some time past wool dealers on Kinzie and Michigan streets have been the victims of one F. A. Falconer, who has on various pretexts swindled them out of wool sacks. Yesterday charges of obtaining money under false pretenses and one of forgery were preferred against Falconer before Justice C. J. White. The victims were there to push the charges.

The case of forgery was continued until Saturday in bonds of $1500. being strongly against the prisoner in the other cases, he was was held to the Criminal Court in bonds of $500 each on the four charges preferred by E. E. Kinnie, H. H. Kellogg, J. G. Hull and W. J.

The I., D. & W. Misfortune. At the last inquest, that of James Hines, killed on July 17 at the Long Greek collision, it was shown in evidence that the sole trouble with the disabled engine was a temporary impairment of its steaming capacity, owing to escape of exhaust steam into the smoke box from a parted joint in the exhaust pipe on one side of the engine and which oc curred after it left Decatur, but could until the engine was examined at the Indianapolis shops. The same engine came in Monday morning on time with an unusually heavy freight train from ndiananglis, hance the renairs needs must have been slight.

The managing trustee, Mr. Peirce, and the superintendent, Mr. Boyd, were here through both inquests and promptly placed at Coroner Bendure's disposal all persons and means at their command fo thorough investigation of the facts and Mr. Pierce proposed to the jury to carry them to the scene of the collision s Long Creek if they thought it would aid them any reaching a correct conclusion. It was further incidentally brought out that the report of examining experts at Indianapolis places the L., D. & W. at point, for highest standing in the discipline maintained upon it and the character of its employes. It can also be said that the superiority of its motive power equipment is a matter of repute. Its shops are conceded to be the finest and most complete of any of the Indianapolis roads, and which are under the manage ment of John McKenna, whose 38 years LOW PRICES IS OUR MOTTO. of active experience gives him the title of Nestor of Master Mechanics. The recent and accident by which two lives were lost, is the most fatal that ever occurred upon this line of the road. As a matter arrived home this morning from Blue of record there are few if any railroads in list of fatalities, whether compared with the I., D. & W. upon an absolute or relathese respects is, as it should be, a source of great satisfaction to its management, both past and present, and it is as Mr. Pierce said, "A matter of pride with us to austain it.

The selection of two juries of inquest instead of one by Coroner Bendure and the thoroughness and careful deliberation that characterized the investigation gives more than ordinary emphasis to the verdicts which so completely "exonerate the company and its employes from any and all blame."

PIE FOR SIXTEEN IN LONDON. An American Traveler in a Place That Fascinated Dickens.

There is a pie shop in London that Charles Dickens used to stand before when as a child he drudged in a blacking factory Every day, on his way to and from work, he paused to devour the viands with his eyes, and sometimes, as he said, he pressed his tongue to the window panes as if by doing that he got a little bit of a taste of the good things that lay so near, yet were so far beyond his reach An American railroad man who admires Dickens hunted up this pie shop when he was in London in order to gratify sentiment and curi

The exhaustion of supplies brought the ban quet to an end, and the traveler paid the score, thinking it little to pay in view of the fun he had had while the boys tumbled into the street, cheering feebly on account of their gorged condition and went to spread the news of this indracle through the lanes of Lon don -New York Sun

At the Truth Tellers' Club When I was in Maryland some years ago I stopped at an old tashioned inn up near Cumberland You vill perhaps recollect that in the summer of 1882 we had some horrible thunder storms Have I ever told any of you this story before! No Well I put up at this inn one very sultry day in August, just as the sun was setting

Shortly after we had retried a storm ame up The rain fell in torrents down the hillside, rushing like mountain likes let loose and then came the lightning and the thunder At the first clap I sprang from my bed toward the window. The next flash revealed to me a grant old chestnut tree, rocked by the winds dripping with the rain, and groaning and shricking in terror of the storm. Then a

Medicinal Property of Clams I call to mind a remarkable instance f the efficacy of clams as a curative of internal disorders. A young woman well known in the theatrical profession some vears ago came home to the metropolis to die she having contracted gastric trouble while sojourning in the tropics At the time of her arrival home in New Fork she was fearfully emaciated and could not even digest Liebig's extracts All she could seem to assimilate at all was the juice she could suck from very rare broiled beef. To condense my story. her people were persuaded to let her have clam juice. It happened luckaly that she was very fond of those bivalves, and through judicious nursing in time she recovered her health, and always at tributed it in great part to the clams

Children Crv for Pitcher's Castonia Dated Decatur, Ill., July 22 1800. ILLAN, Clerk.

Dr Leahy, a horse trainer, says When horse stops and proposes to turn around don't resist the turn but give him a quiet horizontal pull in the direction he wants to turn so as to carry him farther around than he intended to go, and, if possible, keep him going around half a dozen times In most cases this will upset all his cul culations, and he will go quietly on with out much ado If six turns will not do give him twenty. In fact, if he will keep on turning to your rein you are sure to onquer as enough turning will certainly confuse him, and leave him at your com mand If he will not turn and will back to the rem keep him going backward in the direction you want to go He will soon get tired f that and mefer to go with the right on I forward, but before you let him go give him decidedly more backing than be likes —St. Louis Globe
